First Lesson of Early Childhood Education-nutrition and health

WEI TE CHENG(Vita)

The source of this lesson is this website: <https://www.coursera.org/learn/childnutrition/>

From the first lesson, it is talking about child nutrition and health. Health is the most significant part in the life. In this generation, children eat many kinds of cookies, granola bars, crackers and sweetened drink. Thus, obesity is the biggest problem about the children. When parents offer the processed food to child, they may become unhealthy and fat. On the contrary, if their parents cook at home, children can absorb different kinds of meals. Therefore, in the lesson, it is said that food is divided into nutrition and social function. Firstly, there are diverse elements about nutrition, including water, energy and micronutrients. Secondly, cooking at home and eating together is the best way to improve communication skill, social connection, emotional health and tradition. Hence, professor recommends that parents could take the children to organic market or vegetable garden to know a diversity of meat, vegetable and fruits. It will be healthier for the whole family.

Social function means people care for another, celebrate together, and communicate with other people. For instance, parents eat with their children who could learn communication skill and build their social relationship.

Micronutrient means the nutrient element, such as carbohydrates, proteins, fats and vitamins.

Global Conflicts - Sweatshop

vocabulary:

1.conflicts - n. fight, warfare

2.sweatshop - n. manufacturing plant

3.Military - adj. soldierlike, concerning the armed forces

4.Soldiers - n. person serving in military

5.investigate - v. check into thoroughly

"Sweatshop" was made by Channel4, it's painting style is very cute, and the music is very relax and interesting. This is a small and easy game. In this game, you will act a boss in a clothing factory. I did not play it before, but I found that it is not suitable for under 12 years old children. So I think about why the really easy and cute game should not play by young people? Depending on researching, I found out the answer. In this game, you will act a bad boss! you should try to squeeze your staff to complete the order, so many staff dead on the production line because of working hard. It is really truly a sweatshop! Even if you will act a bad person, but it can bring a lot of interesting and relaxing to us. I really like these Sim or Tycoon games. It can give me a lot of money and satisfaction when you play game. Although it is not a real situation, but you can far away from the annoying true life in a short time.

(1) I played "Big Bad Spanish". In this game, I choose a Spanish word from three choices in any situation. A hero in this game does not know any Spanish word. If I choose wrong words, the relationship between the hero and people around him gets worse. According to the explanation of this game, the purpose is that we can learn Spanish by putting ourselves into the situation which are likely to happen in our daily life. Under pressure, people can improve their skill.

(2) I sometimes hear and see Spanish in many places, and I sometime feel the demand for Spanish. Although I did not know any Spanish as well the hero in this game, I naturally enjoyed playing this game. In English class, my teacher try to understand what I want to say and speak slowly for students to understand. On the other hand, I cannot make myself understood to clerks in some store and, I cannot understand what they say. That turns out it is not enough for Spanish learners to speak and listen to Spanish in just class. I recommend this game for people who want to get opportunities to talk with native Spanish speaker but do not want to go out.

Mumbling – speech that are spoken in a quiet voice

scuzzy – dirty and unpleasant

mugger – a person who threaten someone to steal their money

short tempered – easy to get angry bureaucrat – an official working in an organization or a government department

A spring day

A haiku is a structured short Japanese poem with 17 syllables. It is also the shortest rhythmic poem in the world literature. In this poem “A spring day” is the haiku. It is really short, but it can still express people’s ideas, and it has some wits and wisdom tucked within. The meaning of this poem is people cannot easily forget amazing things they have seen. These things will still be in their mind forever. Haiku has unique charm. It describes the four seasons. The author of A spring day Masaoka Shiki (1867-1902) was the famous Japanese poet. He created a haiku magazine named “cuckoo”. I wrote a haiku based on this haiku,

“ Spring coming here
the sound of blooming flowers a joyful heart.”

I enjoyed it. It swiftly taught me the structure of haiku poems (5-7-5) and the meanings of haikus in there.

- If we don't do this, we get sick in our mind.
- Then we may miss important things in our life.

Sometimes we easily forget really important things in our daily life such as our pets. They are always waiting for you. We should take places for them in our bags.

We have lay down if we feel tired.

Or we want to see something in different ways having the sun in our stomach.

Life is tough. We need to

First of all, if people study with the Feynman technique, they could get the ability to summarize and explain what they learn. When people use the Feynman technique, they need to be able to explain what they learn exactly. They would be able to get the ability to summarize and explain something simultaneously. The ability helps them do presentation or something that people need to tell important points. Therefore, the Feynman technique is very helpful not only in the present but also in the future.

Moreover, things which they learn with the Feynman technique would last for a long time. According to the narrator in Minute Video, people can remember what they learn for a long time. Although I sometimes forget what I study for mid-term exam by final exam, I don't have to study about it again for final exam if I study with the Feynman technique. Thus, the Feynman technique is very efficient.

In addition, not only people can know which point they don't understand, but also other people can learn what they learn. In my experience, I used to explain Japanese history which I learn in my high school to my father. Because my father is interested in Japanese history, he enjoyed that. Like that, the Feynman technique could help more than one-person study something.

All in all, I think the Feynman technique helps learner most because they can acquire more things steadily with other people. The Feynman technique might seem to be troublesome, but it pays a lot in the long run. I would like to recommend people who want to learn something new to use the Feynman technique.

Teaching Methodology Essay- Montessori school education

CHENG WEI TE ^{when}

Education is significant in our life. It's also around of us when we were children. ~~As I~~ was a child, I ^{does} need to absorb numerous knowledge and information from the world.
How education ~~€~~ ^{affects} students' life? In my opinion, I think that Montessori school education is the essential perspectives in the education sector. Therefore, my teaching methodology is the best for three reasons: child should learn from the nature, teachers should help ^{students} set their curriculum, and build their relationship with peers in their classroom.

Initially, children learn from environment and personal care. From the perspective of Montessori, children need to learn how to ^{care for} environment, including gardening, sweeping, and dusting. To illustrate, students should learn how to take ^t ~~care of the~~ environment because the environment make ^s students learning ~~ing~~ from water, fire, sun, and soil to let them know how to build their personality from them. In addition, children must prepare their personal care. For instance, they learn dressing and undressing. Since we were young, our parents helped us to do everything when we needed. So, when we were three to five years old, children need to find out something we can do by ourselves, likewise when we need to dress or undress clothes. Thus, environment is important for children to learn.
