

OCTOBER 27-29, 2026

Sacramento, CA and UC Davis

STATE OF
THE
ART
CONFERENCE

The State of the Art Conference on Inclusive Postsecondary Education and Individuals with Intellectual Disability

The State of the Art Conference (SOTA) is the national conference for the field of inclusive post-secondary education. Colleges, universities, researchers, program staff, support organizations, educators, self-advocates and families gather to form connections and share the current state of research and best practices with each other. This travelling conference offers a pre-conference day, several tracks and breakout session formats, ample time for networking, and a free inclusive college fair.

Student Leadership Conference

The parallel Student Leadership Conference (SLC) brings current and prospective college students into the conversation with opportunities to learn useful tools for the transition to college life, expand their skills as student advocates and leaders, and meet peers from across the country.

8th Annual Inclusive College Fair

State of the Art offers a free Inclusive College Fair for students with intellectual disability. Over 30 inclusive colleges, universities, and organizations from around the country exhibit, and future college students get to explore their options!

SOTA features thought-provoking keynotes, engaging breakout sessions, a targeted pre-conference day, cocktail reception, karaoke party, and more!

To learn more and register, visit:
taishoffcenter.syr.edu/sota

S Syracuse University
School of Education
Lawrence B. Taishoff Center for Inclusive Higher Education

Hosted by Syracuse University's Taishoff Center for Inclusive Higher Education in collaboration with the IPSE Association

